DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-18, 20, 31-33, drawn to replication-competent virus comprising detectable fusion protein, and fusion protein per se, classified in class 435, subclass 235.1 for example.
- II. Claims 21-26, drawn to in vitro testing method using virus, classified in class 435, subclass 5 for example.
- III. Claims 27-28, drawn to in vivo testing method using virus, classified in class 424, subclass 9.2 for example.
- IV. Claims 29-30, drawn to anti-viral agent, unclassifiable (chemical nature of agent unspecified).
- V. Claim 19, drawn to nucleic acid that hybridizes to SEQ ID NO:1, classified in class 536, subclass 23.1 for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Invention I is related to inventions II and III as product and alternative, materially different methods of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the virus as claimed can be used in materially different methods, such as a method of in vitro identification and selection of virus-resistant cells as in group II, or alternatively in a method for in vivo, whole-body efficacy testing for antiviral compounds as in group III.

Inventions I-III are unrelated to invention IV. Although the antiviral agent of group IV is claimed as a product identified by a claimed method, the claimed methods of testing for antiviral efficacy do not confer any identifying characteristics upon the product tested or identified; an identical antiviral agent could reasonably be identified by a materially different method, for example the methods used in past years to identify the antiviral effects of acyclovir or AZT. Therefore, the tests per se are seen as distinct from and unrelated to the products which might be identifiable by the tests.

Invention V is related to invention I as a subcombination usable in the combination of group I. Although SEQ ID NO:1 encodes a fusion protein which would be placed in group I, claim 19 is drawn to any hybridizing nucleic acid, such as an ordinary unfused ICP8 coding sequence or an ordinary unfused GFP coding sequence. These unfused sequences can be used separately from each other, and group I does not rely upon the particulars of sequences which can hybridize with SEQ ID NO:1. Invention V is unrelated to inventions II-IV.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, divergent subject matter, and divergent search requirements, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
